

February 19, 2026: On their Tactic is Simply Relevance by Association

The tactic that is being pushed upon my home from a government of proven losers is simply to remain relevant to the conversation and my life by associating themselves with things that are ‘powerful’, ‘alarming’, ‘intimidating’, ‘bothersome’, etc.

The current administration is monitoring my activities and driving vehicles past my home that express ‘loud bass’ and ‘powerful engines’ as I read various stories in the news.

The technique is to keep their threatening presence relevant to my life by associating themselves with things that are harmful, threatening, agitating, and annoying - things that we would otherwise want to avoid.

Since their tactic is to remain relevant by their associations (they are what their friends are) I am suggesting that we all continue to draw the direct connections to the related people, places, and things that they are actually associated with in their public and private lives.

The relevance by association that I am experiencing in my home right now is simply a distraction from the true relevance by association that the Trump family really has been proven to be: corrupt, morally bankrupt, divisive, liars, etc.

The technique is working now as they are self-destructing, attempting to ‘own’ their new image, and are doubling-down on their own actions because they cannot and will not ever admit their own faults because that would be tantamount to pushing the button of self-destruction on their own lives. If they admit even one mistake then they are essentially opening the floodgates of the mistakes that led up to that one and all of the fall out that comes as a result.

Donald Trump and the Trump family have come into their positions as being ‘associated’ with successful American entrepreneurial activities - as a self-made success story. Now, we are witnessing that their associations are far less attractive and they are attempting to always keep associating themselves with something else, newer, next, “look at this, look over here, none of that is ‘relevant’ anymore because now we are. . . . “ (Shake, Shake, Shake, Shake)

The entire Trump family is guilty by association to their patriarch Donald and his ties to Russia, Epstein, Israel, fanatical threatening behaviors, and absolutely disgusting objectification of women throughout his past, present, and future.

Now, their patriarch is associating himself with the countless illegal wars that America is waging against countries on flimsy (economical) grounds to absorb their territories into our (bankrupt) own.

If I were in charge of my own news corporation, I would relentlessly associate Donald Trump with all of the negative things that we know him to be. I would run a 24/7 loop of reminders that Donald Trump is actually associated with [blank] and [blank] is actually associated with [blank].

Since Donald Trump has moved his entire operation into the most intimate areas of my own home, I would not allow any privacy to his own indiscretions. Donald was convicted in a civil trial of rape? Let’s hear about it again. Donald was convicted in a criminal trial of tax fraud? Let’s discuss that in light of our current situation.

Let’s re-evaluate the entire history of Donald Trump in light of everything that we know and believe today. Things will seem a lot different now that the underlying facts are more clearly seen.

Donald’s tactics are old, tired, obvious, and exposed. Now is the time to go 24/7 to the memory bank of public consciousness.

[What’s good for me is good for thee - relevance by association]
